

Caucus Spotlight

Name: Humanities in Medicine

Chair: Eva Mathews, MD, MPH

Charge: This caucus will explore and share different aspects of humanities in medicine, such as utilizing literature, non-fiction, film, visual art, music, etc. in training. The caucus will explore curriculum ideas, wellness, diversity, and cultural competence with the goal of helping our trainees become more empathetic towards themselves, their colleagues, and their patients.

Initiatives and projects:

1. Collect and disseminate best practices for using the humanities in medical training.
2. Create workshops and posters for the AADPRT Annual Meeting promoting humanities training and techniques.
3. Promote wellness, diversity, and cultural competence through liaison with other AADPRT caucuses and committees as appropriate.

How do you join the caucus?

What skills are you looking for in new members?

We are looking for anyone who is passionate about the humanities in medical education! You can already be involved in this area or seeking more information.

What is the time commitment for committee members?

We plan to meet virtually at least once every 3 months and in-person at AADPRT's Annual Meeting.

What positions are available to committee members?

As part of our plan to liaison with other committees and caucuses, we would like people who are involved in our caucus and the committees/caucus below to help liaise between them:

- Head liaison with the JEDI (Justice. Equity. Diversity. Inclusion.) Committee
- Head liaison with the Psychotherapy Committee
- Head liaison with the Curriculum Committee
- Head liaison with the Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Caucus
